Mina (a.k.a. vitamina) is a researcher and performer. Her work explores leftovers from digital technology in ways of creative coding, circuit bending, hardware hacking, and audiovisual performance. Her in-progress thesis investigates electronic waste and transforming it into a musical instrument in order to create new value and performance of dead gadgets. Her practice-based research embraces sociology, digital media studies, interactive media design, and human-computer interaction. She is a member of 'Fruit From the Forest' - experimental sound project, and 'RE#SISTER' - female/femme/non-binary electronic music & sound community. Born in South Korea. Currently based in Groningen, the Netherlands.
